Goldwater Is Close to First Ballot Victory

By LARRY OSIUS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The final phase of the race for the Republican presidential nomination gets under way Friday amid indications that Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona is only a whisker away from a first-ballot victory.

Washington state Republicans open their convention and delegates to the GOP National Convention will be chosen in two Colorado districts Friday.

By Saturday night some 65 delegates will be chosen in Washington, Colorado, Alabama and Hawaii, and political observers will be better able to gauge the impact of Goldwater's victory in Tuesday's California primary.

That victory gave him 86 delegates from the Golden State, boosting his first ballot strength in The Associated Press survey of delegates already chosen to 446. That contrasted with a claim of 454 by Goldwater's headquarters.

A spot check Wednesday of political leaders in most of the 15 states and Puerto Rico, where a total of 258 delegates remain to be chosen, showed Goldwater is expected to win between 140 and 190. And another 25 or so of these unchosen delegates could wind up in the senator's corner before the GOP convention opens July 13 in San Francisco.

If he fulfills these estimates, Goldwater would march into the convention with from 625 to 650 first-ballot votes, just shy of the 655 needed for the nomination.

Goldwater backers who are predicting a first-ballot nomination are looking closely at the big bloc of nominally uncommitted or favorite-son votes, including 58 in Ohio, 48 in Michigan, 31 in New Jersey and 30 in Wisconsin.

They feel there is Goldwater support in those delegations which can be called on either during or at the end of the first roll call.

The AP survey of 1,050 delegates already chosen shows this first-ballot lineup based on pledges, primary commitments, instructions and stated preferences:

Goldwater	446
Nelson A. Rockefeller	117
William W. Scranton	72
Henry Cabot Lodge	44
Margaret Chase Smith	45
Richard M. Nixon	13
Favorite sons	103
Uncommitted	240

No He Wouldn't, Wedding Was Off

MANCHESTER, England (AP) — David Swindells, 27, said "No," he wouldn't take Diane Garden to be his wedded wife and walked out of the Congregational Church Wednesday.

Blonde Diane burst into tears. The minister shepherded the weeping bride and her father into the vestry and then ran after the bridegroom.

After a while the minister came back and told the guests: "There will be no wedding today."

"I don't want to talk about it," said David at his home later. Diane's parents took her home.

"We don't want to talk about it," said a relative.

Shuffle for Power in California

By MORRIE LANDSBERG

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A reshuffle in the power structure of California's volatile politics shapes up in the aftermath of Tuesday's primary election.

Sen. Barry Goldwater's victory over Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, close as it was, put conservative Republicans in position to complete their takeover of the state GOP.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown and Democratic elements who backed State Controller Alan Cranston in the U.S. Senate race faced a challenge by the successful forces behind the winner of the Democratic nomination, Pierre Salinger.

The post election motto in both parts was "unto front." Prospects for achieving it, however, were uncertain.

Goldwater upset not only the pollsters but California's middle-of-the-road voting pattern in defeating Rockefeller, who styled himself a moderate and the Arizona senator an extremist.

Goldwater won by 59,433 on the basis of unofficial returns from all but two of the 32,861 precincts. He carried only 14 of 58 counties—but nine that went to him were in the big population area of Southern California.

The Associated Press totals: Goldwater 1,091,291; Rockefeller 1,031,858.

Goldwater made his most effective showing in Los Angeles County, where he outpolled Rockefeller by enough—158,150—to offset the governor's Northern California strength. A margin of nearly 50,000 in Orange County also contributed importantly.

Early moves are expected by Goldwater supporters to solidify what they can cite as an election mandate for the conservative cause.

There's little doubt that the Republican State Central Committee, only major party organization still not controlled by the Goldwater camp, will name a Goldwater backer as state chairman Aug. 1. He is Dr. Gaylord Parkinson of a Jolla, now vice chairman.

In addition, under state law, the 86-member Goldwater delegation to the Republican National Convention will select California's two GOP national committeemen for the next four years. They'll replace Joseph Martin Jr., of San Francisco, who supported Rockefeller, and Patricia Hill of Orange, who was neutral in the presidential primary.

On the Democratic side, party chiefs acted quickly to mend the fences knocked down in the blistering Senate contest between Salinger and Cranston. Pledging to support Salinger, Gov. Brown said Wednesday, "We expect to present a united front in November from the top to the bottom of the ticket."

If Presidential Race Pairs Johnson, Goldwater There Will Be Few Dull Moments

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — If the presidential race matches Sen. Barry Goldwater against President Johnson the November election campaign will have few dull moments.

There is some difference of opinion over whether Goldwater's defeat of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in Tuesday's California primary carried the senator over his last big hurdle toward the Republican presidential nomination.

But if Goldwater is nominated at the mid-July convention here, the fireworks probably will start exploding even before the August Democratic convention goes through the formality of nominating the President.

Goldwater, the conservative, would strive to offer "a choice, not an echo," to Johnson's professed liberalism.

The senator described himself to California audiences as "the only Republican who has the ghost of a chance of beating Lyndon Johnson."

He called the California primary outcome "a victory for the great majority of Republicans across the country who share my belief that Lyndon Baines Johnson can be beaten in 1964 if we Republicans concentrate our fire on him and not on each other."

All signs indicate that Johnson would welcome Goldwater as his opponent. The President, an experienced performer on the stump might even be tempted into a television debate with Goldwater, who has been accused by critics in his own party of firing carelessly from the hip in some statements on major issues.

Because of the limitations on what a president can say publicly, Johnson has not indicated if he will debate his opponent on TV. But Johnson has shown a yen for the kind of crowd hopping and individual handshaking that Goldwater gives every sign of detesting. However, if Goldwater is the Republican nominee, he probably would have to campaign on the supermarket circuit.

In his California campaign, the senator laid out the pattern of the attack he could be expected to make on Johnson in a general election contest.

Among other things, Goldwater said the administration's foreign policies offered a "path to suicide," that the country faced "another Korea" in South Viet Nam and might lose all of Southeast Asia to the Communists.

"We are following the same path of appeasement that we followed in the 1930s," he said. The Democrats have been making a book on Goldwater's utterances for several years. Any quotations they might have missed probably were dug up by Rockefeller's researchers and injected into the governor's attack on the senator.

Democratic speakers have only to quote Rockefeller's assertion that Goldwater's call for an end to foreign aid, his opposition to arms control measures and his proposal to quit the United Nations if Red China were admitted add up to a "blueprint for defeat and disaster."

Then there was the matter of civil rights, where Johnson is committed to all-out support of the bill before the Senate and Goldwater is opposed to some of its provisions.

Depending on what the GOP platform has to say on the issue, a Goldwater-Johnson contest could have wide repercussions in the South. There the Democratic President probably would get a run for his money from a senator long the favorite of Southern Republicans.

Rebel Leader Picked Up by British

By THEODORE A. EDIGER

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — Manuel Ray, anti-Castro rebel leader who had vowed to be fighting in Cuba by May 20, was one of eight persons picked up Monday by the British destroyer Decoy in the Bahamas.

This was confirmed today by a police official who declined to permit use of his name.

Five Cubans and two American photographers were taken off the Decoy today and brought to Magistrate's Court for a hearing on a charge of illegal entry into British waters.

The eighth captive remained aboard the ship. The police official finally confirmed growing speculation that this was Ray, 39, head of the Cuban revolutionary junta.

Ray, first public works minister in Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime, defected after 1½ years in the post and began building an anti-Castro underground. He fled to Florida in a small boat in November 1960.

For the past year, he had persistently promised the exile colony that he would be fighting again on Cuban soil—or be dead—by May 20.

There was no indication of what action British officials would take against Ray.

The two Americans taken from a fast, armed launch after a chase by the Decoy Monday were Andrew St. George, New York, a free lance news photographer, and Tom Dunkin, also a New York photographer and a former Florida newspaper man.

The Decoy took five of the eight persons off a small launch after a 14-mile chase off Anguilla Cay, in the Bahamas 30 miles north of the coast of Cuba. The three others were captured on the island of a landing party.

The launch carried guns, 1,000 rounds of ammunition and a large supply of fuel, along with equipment of the two photographers. British authorities assumed that the party had planned to raid Cuba.

Helena Trying for A Junior College

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Helena Chamber of Commerce, with 5,000 signatures on petitions, opened headquarters here Wednesday for a junior college amendment to the constitution. The group hopes to get the required 31,000 signatures to put the proposal on the November general election ballot.

The amendment would let areas from taxing districts to support regional two-year colleges. It also would prohibit any such school from ever becoming a senior college.

Whippings at State Prison Are Out Now

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Corporal punishment at the state prisons was abolished—at least temporarily—by the state Pardon and Parole Board here Wednesday.

The action came several days after Joe Hubbard of Russellville, a Democratic candidate for governor, asked to be allowed to look into the use of a strap on prisoners.

Hubbard, 32, had requested an interview with Prison Supt. Dan Stephens, who said he would if directed by the board to meet Hubbard. The board denied Hubbard's request.

The board—without naming Hubbard—said it felt that Hubbard was trying to use Prison whippings as a political stepping stone.

"We don't want these matters to become a political football," the board statement said.

Stephens was paroled for his work at the prisons.

Hubbard, reached at his home, said his "open disclosure brought the matter to a head."

He promised more such disclosures in the near future.

A prison escapee who was arrested in New Mexico told newsmen about the whippings.

He said he was beaten with a five-foot whip that weighed about three pounds.

Stephens said this prisoner had never been whipped, according to records taken of the whippings.

"Why, the strap is no bigger than one my daddy used to whip me with," Stephens said.

He said he tried to treat the 2,044 inmates of the prison system "like my own children."

A suggestion by Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett that prisoners in Death Row be worked in the fields like other prisoners. The board turned the suggestion down.

Martial Law in Student Riots in South Korea

By C. S. CHIN

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Antigovernment demonstrations erupted today in eight major cities and President Chung Hee Park's Cabinet threatened to extend martial law to all South Korea.

One of the demonstrations broke out in Seoul's nearby port of Inchon not included in the martial law decree that had veteran troops keeping a lid on violence in Seoul. About 1,000 students in Inchon demanded that Park resign. Inchon high schools decided to close for three days, hoping tempers would cool.

The most violent demonstration hit the city of Kwangju, 165 miles south of Seoul. It was a small amount of the rioting by 30,000 adults and students in Seoul on Wednesday that injured more than 600 police and demonstrators and left 91 persons under arrest.

Police in Kwangju tried to scatter 6,000 students with tear gas after demonstrators hurled rocks and over a police line. But some of the students managed to get through into the provincial government building and demanded to see the governor. The governor refused to meet them.

Demanding Park's resignation and an end to martial law in Seoul the students threw rocks at the building, smashing 50 windows. In the battle with police, 20 demonstrators and 10 policemen were injured.

Spreading of the demonstrations to other cities north and south points up the rising threat to Park's regime, accused by the students of corruption and police state methods.

About 9,000 students took part in the other demonstrations at Chunchu, 45 miles northeast of Seoul; Chongju, 60 miles south; Taejon, 85 miles south; the big port of Pusan on the southeast coast where U.S. troops made their stand against the North Korean Communist invasion in 1950; the central city of Taeju; and the southwest port of Mokpo.

Mokpo was a major center of student uprisings in 1960 that led to the overthrow of President Syngman Rhee, clearing the way for Park to seize power at the head of a military junta, Chongju and Taejon were the center of student demonstrations Wednesday.

Dust-covered trucks moved troops into the capital during the night. Troops with fixed bayonets patrolled major streets.

Gen. Min Ki-shik, chief of staff of South Korea's 600,000-man army, took personal command of the city under the military decree.

The outbreak in Seoul Wednesday was by far the most serious challenge to Park's regime.

At first, the students demanded cancellation of talks with Korea's ancient enemy, Japan, aimed at restoring diplomatic and commercial relations. But in the past month the protests have broadened to complaints of police rule, dictatorship, official corruption, inflation and unemployment.

Democrats Still Control Committee

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP) — The powerful House Rules Committee likely will remain under the tenuous control of administration Democrats in 1965 although it will have two or three new members.

One of the present 10 Democratic seats and probably two of the five Republican seats will be vacant when the new Congress convenes in January, assuming continued Democratic control of the House.

The Democratic vacancy will be the seat of Rep. Carl Elliott of Alabama, who was defeated for re-election in Tuesday's primary. One Republican, Elmer J. Hoffman of Illinois, is running for a state office and another, William H. Avery of Kansas, is running for governor but still could change his mind and seek reelection to the House.

All the remaining 12 members come from districts considered "safe" for reelection.

Avery and Hoffman, along with the other three Republicans, generally have teamed up in the past with two Democrats, Chairman Howard W. Smith of Virginia and William M. Colmer of Mississippi, to form a conservative minority.

Rep. John B. Anderson, R-Ill., reportedly has the inside track to replace Hoffman. No one has been prominently mentioned to take Avery's place.

Replacing Elliott may pose quite a problem since the Alabama seat normally would belong to the South. Not many liberal Southerners acceptable to the Democratic leadership are available or willing to take the political risk involved in House Rules Committee membership.

Most prominently mentioned is Rep. Claude Pepper of Florida, an avowed liberal who voted for the civil rights bill and who comes from a liberal district. Although a House freshman, Pepper has served in the Senate.

His controlling vote in the House Rules Committee will be needed during the remaining months of the present session.

publican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said they have no intention of being deflected from the course set earlier in the week to wind up the debate and pass the bill.

They discounted reports that the refusal of Senate leaders to accept an offer for the Dixie contingent to vote on several amendments this week had hurt their chances of mustering the necessary margin for cloture.

Humphrey and Dirksen also said the victory of Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., in California's presidential primary, would have no effect on the drive to limit debate despite Goldwater's stand against invoking cloture.

Referring to Goldwater's defeat of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Humphrey said the vote in California "hurt Rockefeller, not cloture."

But Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., leader of the Southern senators battling the civil rights bill, said he thought Goldwater's victory might cause some senators to change their minds and "vote against gag rule."

The offer of the Southern forces after a caucus two days ago to start voting on amendments marked a switch in strategy in an apparent effort to head off a limitation on debate.

FBI Offers Opportunity to Many

According to Roy K. Moore, Special Agent in Charge of the FBI Office in Little Rock, the FBI offers many job opportunities for high school graduates at its headquarters in Washington, D.C. All of the investigative work in the FBI is performed by Special Agents, but there are many other jobs of a clerical nature which must be done, such as typists, file clerk, messenger, fingerprint clerk, telephone and teletype operator, and receptionist. Each one plays a vital part in the important and interesting work on the FBI. Both men and women are eligible for many of the jobs.

When employees enter on duty in Washington, they are given a course to acquaint them with the organization. It's standards, rules and regulations, and other essential information to enable them to become properly adjusted in their new positions. Also, there is constantly available for their guidance and counsel a supervisory staff to furnish sound advice and assistance on all the numerous problems which might arise either in connection with or outside work. Constant on-the-job training is given in every assignment to familiarize the new employees with the tasks to be performed as well as to give them general knowledge of other positions to enable them to advance in the service and acquire qualifications fitting them for additional responsibilities.

All clerks other than typists and stenographers enter on duty at $3,620 a year. Qualified typists start at $3,880 annually, and qualified stenographers start at $4,215 annually. All salaries are subject to withholding income tax deductions and social security deductions. The regular work week is 40 hours, consisting of five eight-hour days.

No previous experience is necessary for those applying for general clerical work, since employees are assigned to existing

Got Plenty of Telephone Calls

SHELDON, Iowa (AP) — Within a half hour Wednesday night, Mrs. L. D. Fogarty got 37 telephone calls, including long distance calls from mpeople she did not know.

Mrs. Fogarty complained. The telephone company said trouble in the dial system was being traced. But, said Mrs. Fogarty, she got 160 more local calls before she took the receiver off the hook and went to bed.

vacancies when they enter on duty and receive on-the-job training in their assigned duties. To qualify for FBI employment you must be: (1) a citizen of the United States, (2) a high school graduate, (3) at least 16 years old, (4) able to pass a required physical examination, and (5) able to pass a rigid investigation of loyalty, reputation, and character.

To qualify as an FBI stenographer, you must be able to take dictation - by any system - at the rate of 80 words per minute, to type at the rate of 45 words per minute, and to successfully pass a spelling and vocabulary test. Typists with some shorthand training but who have insufficient ability to meet these requirements can attend an FBI conducted shorthand school on their own time at no expense, if assigned to Washington, D.C., in order to qualify for the position of stenographer while working as clerks.

Employees of the FBI receive thirteen working days' paid vacation annually during the first three years of employment and twenty working days annually thereafter until the employee has served in the Government for fifteen years, after which time he receives twenty-six working days' paid vacation annually.

The FBI Personnel Office in Washington maintains up-to-date registers of available housing accommodations to suit every employee's needs. Accommodations consist of rooms with private families in homes, rooming or boarding houses, and in addition, apartments are occasionally available.

The FBI Recreation Association provides employees with a well-rounded program of activities outside regular working hours, including photography, music, flying, drama, and sports such as bowling, baseball, basketball, golf, tennis, pistol marks, and excursions.

Washington has numerous educational facilities particularly adapted to Government employees so that they can attend business schools, colleges, universities during their spare time and thereby continue their education.

Any person who is interested in working for the FBI and who can meet the above qualifications is urged to get in touch with the FBI Office in Little Rock, telephone Franklin 2-3158. The FBI Office is located at 215 Post Office Building.

Phillies Nip Dodgers; Mays Makes an Error

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Willie Mays has dropped another fly ball for an error. Why 10 years ago he did the same thing.

San Francisco's great center fielder made the error Wednesday night, but it was harmless as the Giants blanked Pittsburgh 3-0.

Donn Clendenon was the recipient of Mays' rare generosity with two out in the seventh inning. Mays ran back for Clendenon's fly ball, turned around and waited, ready to eat up the ball with his famous basket catch. His teammates already had started leaving the field when the ball fell into his glove. They came back when the ball fell out.

The last time that happened was on Sept. 9, 1954, in the Polo Grounds against the Chicago Cubs. Ernie Banks was the batter.

Just one inning before the ball got away from Mays for his first error of the season. Mays had trouble getting away from the ball. As a result, he is in the middle of a protest lodged by Pirates' Manager Danny Murtaugh.

A ground ball hit by Willie McCovey in the sixth and called foul by the umpires struck Mays, who was at third base after hitting a triple. Murtaugh contended Mays should have been called out under the rules governing a runner hit by a batted ball.

"It hit him before the ball had a chance to go fair or foul," Murtaugh argued. Umpire Jocko Conlan ruled, however, that Mays was in foul territory and could not be called out for being hit by a foul ball.

While Mays was being hit, Philadelphia was having trouble getting hits but still nipped Los Angeles 1-0 in 11 innings. In the other NL games, Milwaukee edged Cincinnati 3-2 and St. Louis defeated Chicago 7-5. Houston at New York was postponed by rain.

In the American League, Chicago blanked Cleveland 3-0. New York did the same to Minnesota. Baltimore whipped Kansas City 5-1. Washington downed Detroit 6-2 and the Los Angeles Angels beat Boston twice, 2-0 and 9-8.

Allowed to remain at third in the disputed sixth inning, Mays scored minutes later as Orlando Cepeda slammed his fifth home run. Cepeda later drove in Mays with a sacrifice fly.

Ron Herbel limited the Pirates to four hits in winning his third game in four decisions. Pittsburgh starter Vernon Law was struck by a Herbel pitch on the right elbow in the sixth and had to leave the game. Law, however, isn't expected to miss his next pitching turn.

Don Drysdale held the Phillies to three hits until Cookie Rojas opened the 11th with a double. Ron Perranoski relieved Drysdale with one out, walked Johnny Callison purposely, then got a force at second as Rojas moved to third. Rojas scored when Jim Gilliam fumbled Tony Gonzalez' grounder and threw wild to first.

Jim Bunning struck out 11 Dodgers before leaving in the 10th for a pinch hitter. The loss put the Dodgers eight games behind the league-leading Phillies.

Denny Lemaster won his seventh game against two defeats, stopping the Reds on six hits. He struck out 10. One of the hits was Vada Pinson's home run in the sixth. But homers by Lee Maye in the sixth and Denis Menke in the seventh halted the Braves' four-game losing streak.

The Cardinals stopped the Cubs' four-game winning streak and held Billy Williams hitless. Williams' league-leading average dropped 10 points to .412. Ken Boyer cracked a three-run homer for St. Louis in the third, offsetting Ron Santo's three-run blast in the eighth.

Ray Sadecki brought his record to 5-4 although he needed relief help from Roger Craig.

Excuses Are Made by Top Two Golfers

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

RYE, N.Y. (AP)—Jack Nicklaus says he can't drive, and Arnold Palmer says he is so rusty his backswing creates little brown clouds.

That's enough to make them favorites in the Thunderbird Golf Tournament which opened today at the Westchester Country Club course.

The two big men of golf share that designation in any tournament they enter, and they have something extra going for them in the rich $100,000 test on the par 72, 6,573-yard course.

To start with, this is the tournament where both plan to begin getting ready for the U.S. Open, which comes up in two weeks on the Congressional course in Washington, D.C.

Add to that the fact that Palmer is the defending champion. Add that Palmer and Nicklaus are two of five golfers who have won two tournaments this year.

And add the $20,000 first prize. The two money machines are noted for refusing to leave that kind of cash around for the others.

Gary Player, the third member of the Mark McCormack stable, also is rated a good chance. He won the 500 Festival last week, and is another who has won two tournaments this year.

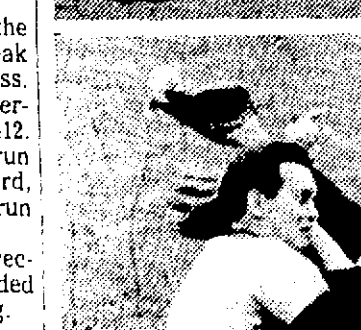

The other two with a pair of more, 27, Weis, Chicago; Davalillo, Cleveland, and Hinton, Washington, 6.

Pitching (5 decisions)—Bunk-er, Baltimore, 6-0, 1.000; Ford, New York, 6-1, .857.
Strikeouts — Radatz, Boston, and Ford, New York, 68.

Victories are Billy Casper and Mike Souchak, both in the field here. Open champion Julius Boros also is entered.

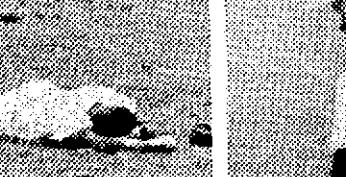

Among the others are British Open champion Bob Charles, old Sam Snead, even older Vic Ghezzi who won the PGA back in 1941, Champagne Tony Lema, Dow Finsterwald and Tony Manero, who won the U.S. Open in 1936.

Nicklaus, the longest driver in the game, says his approach shots and putting are pretty good, "But I can't drive at all." He then proceeded to bang out several beautiful drives in the pro-am before rain washed out play Wednesday.

Palmer hadn't played since the Memphis Open two weeks ago. "When I lay off two days I feel like I've been off two weeks, and I've only played a couple of times since Memphis," Palmer said. "I'm real rusty."

How does Ford, who had a 2-7 record last year, do it time after time?

Terry says it's the head-arm-heart triple play. He elaborates: "He's got a reason for every pitch. That's something you can say for very few pitchers, but you can say it about Whitey because he thinks out there on the mound. He can set up a hitter beautifully because he's got everything to do the job."

With all that Ford still was touched for four hits. Robin Roberts allowed six but rode a four-homer salvo to his fourth victory as the first-place Baltimore Orioles defeated Kansas City 5-1 for their sixth consecutive victory.

Elsewhere in the AL, Joel Horlen permitted only three hits but needed ninth inning relief help before the Chicago White Sox subdued Cleveland 3-2. Washington belted Detroit 6-2 and the Los Angeles Angels swept a doubleheader from Boston 2-0 and 9-8.

In the National League, Philadelphia edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 1-0 in 11 innings. San Francisco blanked Pittsburgh 3-0. St. Louis defeated Chicago's Cubs 7-5 and Milwaukee nipped Cincinnati 3-2. The Houston at New York game was rained out.

Ford, who hasn't lost since opening day, got the only run he needed when Elston Howard slammed a Jim Roland pitch for a homer in the fourth inning. The Yankees then wrapped up their first victory over the Twins in five games with a two-run eighth. Bobby Richardson singled, Tom Tresh doubled, Howard was hit by a pitch and Hector Lopez drove in the runs with a single.

Roberts got more than enough support as Boog Powell hit his 10th and 11th homers and Luis Aparicio and Willie Kirkland each hit one. Powell and Kirkland connected back-to-back in the ninth inning after the A's had scored their only run in the eighth on singles by Wayne Causey and Dick Green and an error by Roberts.

Horlen, now 3-2, left after John Romano opened the Indians' half of the ninth with a double as both Don Mossi and Hoyt Wilhelm came on to preserve the victory. Horlen drove in the White Sox' first run when he grounded out in the second. Al Weis homered in the seventh and Dave Nicholson, who had three hits, wrapped up the scoring with a run-producing single in the eighth.

Claude Osteen, 4-4, sent the Tigers down to their fifth straight defeat with a six-hitter. Al Kaline had three of Detroit's hits and produced both runs with a homer. Fred Valentine and Dick Phillips each hit a homer for the Senators as Dave Wickersham failed in his third try to get his seventh victory. He is 6-5.

The Angels broke a scoreless tie in the opener when a walk, Tony Conigliaro's error, Billy Moran's double and a single by Lee Thomas produced two runs. Fred Newman and Bob Lee scattered 10 Red Sox hits. Conigliaro hit a grand slam in the second game, but the Angels scored the decisive runs in the eighth inning on Albie Pearson's two-run single.

Tight Secrecy on Plans for Asia Fight

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson kept tight secrecy wraps today on what—if any—new moves he is planning to make to step up the fight against Communist forces in Southeast Asia.

A White House statement issued Wednesday night gave some indication, however, that Johnson and his advisers have decided to soft-pedal talk of drastic action such as enlarging the war in Viet Nam, at least for the time being.

Johnson received a report from Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara on the results of two days of intensive policy review which they conducted at a conference in Hawaii earlier this week.

Several days ago officials had indicated that the conference would very likely result in presidential decisions to deal with what then appeared to be a serious crisis in Southeast Asia due to Communist advances primarily in Laos.

When Wednesday night's meeting ended, George Reedy, presidential press secretary, issued this statement: "The secretaries met with the President about an hour. They reviewed the situation in South east Asia in light of the consultations in Hawaii which were held to improve the efficiency and effectiveness of our program."

There was no hint of enlarging the war to include military action against Communist North Viet Nam or of putting U.S. military forces into Thailand or assigning reinforcements to the Southeast Asian area generally.

Reedy declined to answer any questions, explaining to reporters, "This is all I have to say about it."

Typhoid Spreads in Scotland

ABERDEEN, Scotland (AP)—The growing typhoid epidemic in Aberdeen has turned Scotland's leading resort into a pariah city.

The epidemic, which has caused the death of one woman, continues unchecked. The total of identified cases reached 248 today and 39 suspected cases were under observation.

Coming at the start of the tourist season, the outbreak already has cost Aberdeen hundreds of thousands of dollars.

As a government inquiry sought the cause of the outbreak, Secretary of State for Scotland Michael Noble ordered two brands of corned beef removed from store shelves throughout the country because Aberdeen health officials believed one of them had spawned the epidemic.

Noble told the House of Commons, however, that there was no positive evidence that the two brands, both South Americans not been established, he said, that corned beef was to blame.

But Dr. Ian MacQueen, chief public medical officer of Aberdeen, a city of 186,000 told a news conference: "There is no shadow of doubt that this outbreak started from a tin of corned beef."

The mineral springs of the State of Arkansas are one of its important assets. The most famous are those at Hot Springs, Eureka Springs, Heber Springs, Mammoth Spring, and Sulphur Springs.

on improving "the efficiency and effectiveness" of going programs contrasted sharply with a speech made here two weeks ago by Rusk in which he warned that if the Communists persisted in aggression in South Viet Nam the war against them might be expanded.

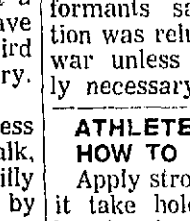

This strengthened speculation in official quarters that carrying the fight to North Viet Nam, perhaps by aerial bombings, was under consideration. But informants said the administration was reluctant to expand the war unless it proved absolute ly necessary.

Shastri Gets Top Position in India

By DAVID LANCASHIRE

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India's ruling Congress party named mild-mannered Lal Bahadur Shastri by acclamation today to succeed the late Prime Minister Nehru. He pledged to work for Nehru's goal of a united, Socialist India.

"Socialism is our objective," Shastri said shortly after Congress party members of Parliament named him their leader, a designation which automatically carried nomination as prime minister.

Shastri, 59, gave no clue to the foreign policy he will pursue. He indicated high regard for Nehru's daughter, Mrs. Indira Gandhi, a leading candidate for the foreign minister's post.

Shastri wept as he recalled Nehru's death last week and said of Mrs. Gandhi: "Her continued association with us will be a source of strength to all of us."

He welcomed the support of former Finance Minister Morarji Desai, his opponent who yielded after a determined five-day succession struggle.

"I am sure this will generate a new confidence in the country and will have an impact on the outside world also," Shastri said.

Shastri said the party's immediate task is to fight India's "biggest enemies—poverty and unemployment."

"The country must remain united and it is important we realize our grave responsibilities toward the betterment of our people," he declared. "The economic issues are most vital for us."

India is "faced today with a great crisis," Shastri continued, and must "follow in his (Nehru's) footsteps."

If this reflects Shastri's foreign policy, it will mean a continuation of nonalignment under which India accepts economic and military aid from both sides of the Iron Curtain but does not consider itself a member of any bloc.

Acting Prime Minister G. L. Nanda nominated Shastri before the Congress party members in the central hall of Parliament. Desai seconded the nomination, saying the party would "continue to adhere to the ideals" of Nehru. Approval followed in a burst of applause.

President Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan will complete the formalities by asking Shastri to form a government and swear him in, probably later this week.

Party President Kumaraswami Kamaraj placed Shastri's name before party members after a poll of Congress leaders favored the former home minister who had been Nehru's closest associate after Nehru suffered a stroke in January.

A moderate Socialist and firm anti-Communist, Shastri was picked largely because of his middle-of-the-road views, which Congress leaders hope will bring together the party's conservative and leftist extremes.

Astronauts at Scout Ranch

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — At least 23 astronauts will tramp the rugged country of the Philmont Boy Scout Ranch in north-eastern New Mexico the rest of this week.

The space men are completing a quickie geology course with the field trip. Other visits have been made to the Grand Canyon, West Texas and Arizona.

Seventeen astronauts will fly to Trinidad, Colo., today and then motor about 60 miles to Cimarron. Maj. L. Gordon Cooper will fly his own plane to Cimarron. Six more astronauts are scheduled to arrive from Los Angeles.

Let's Make Music This Summer

To most youngsters, summer represents a traditional break from cultural and academic endeavors, with energies devoted more to the light-hearted, out door life. Now, the summer months are being used for musical enrichment as well as vacation activities.

Proof that outdoor fun and education complement one another and benefit youngsters is the recent boom in music camps. Since 1950, music camp enrollment has mushroomed from 10,000 to 60,000 in 1963. And enrollment is expected to reach almost 70,000 this summer.

The 170 music camps in the United States dot the shores of lakes, use the facilities of university campuses or occupy parts of city recreation areas. They are primarily the product of increased emphasis on music instruction in the public schools and a corresponding rise in the number of school-age musicians.

These camps offer a unique environment for music study, top-level instruction and an opportunity to improve musical skills. In an atmosphere of fun and relaxation, students approach music study with refreshed enthusiasm for their favorite pastime.

Courses offered by music camps include band, symphony, ensemble work, stage band, folk music and voice. Balancing these activities with outdoor recreation provides a well-rounded summer for the student.

Improved musicianship is a primary result of participation in music camp programs. According to a Winfield, Kan., music camp director, "The improvement of musical skills, and interest in music shown by those who attend, is so obvious that it has encouraged others to enroll, and has caused teachers to encourage their students to participate in summer music camps."

Many music camp educators feel that music camps provide the opportunity for intensive, short-term study that produces greater advancement in a minimum of time. A concentrated music program helps the student to progress beyond the scope of high-school instruction, notwithstanding the fact that many high schools have excellent music programs of their own. A Williamsburg, Va. summer band director adds that,

July 4th Specials To Please

DECORATE FUDGE to make "flags" in celebration of the Glorious Fourth. Make chocolate crinkle cups by melting 6 squares semi-sweet chocolate with 2 tablespoons butter; stir. Using a teaspoon, swirl the chocolate all around the inside of 10 large paper baking cups. Place in muffin pans. Chill. To make the decorations melt 1-1/2 squares semi-sweet chocolate; stir and cool to about 83°, then dip small end of 10 pineapple wedges into chocolate. Let stand on wax paper until firm. Insert wooden pick through candied cherry and into plain end of pineapple. Ten minutes before serving, fill cups with scoops of ice cream. Place in freezer ten minutes. Peel off paper. Top ice cream with fruit-picks.

CHOCOLATE CRÈME FUDGE
8 squares (1 package) Baker's Semi-Sweet Chocolate
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
2/3 cup chopped walnuts
1-1/2 cups sugar
1/4 cup marshmallow cream
1/2 cup evaporated milk
Break the chocolate squares in half. Place in a bowl with nuts, marshmallow cream, butter, and vanilla.
Combine sugar and evaporated milk in saucepan. Bring to a boil over low heat, stirring occasionally. Continue boiling, without stirring, until a small amount of mixture will form a very soft ball in cold water (or to a temperature of 232°). Immediately pour over ingredients in bowl. Stir until chocolate is melted and all ingredients are evenly mixed. Pour into buttered 8-inch square pan. Cool until set; then cut into pieces or rectangles. Makes about 1-3/4 pounds.
Note: Fudge should be stored in the refrigerator.

Lauds State Potential Economically

Arkansans in Washington
By GORDO NBROWN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Douglas G. Wright, head of the Southwestern Power Administration, lauded Arkansas' economic potential during a recent appearance before the House public works appropriations subcommittee.

Wright, knowledgeable and forthright, is well known and well liked around the Congressional appropriations committees. He knows his subject and gives straight and direct answers.

The subcommittee was discussing the saturation point in use of electricity and Wright was asked for his view on the saturation point in the south-west. The transcript of the hearing was made public today.

He said he didn't think any saturation point would be reached this century, but by 2000 the use of electric power might have some relation to population increases.

Wright said there was a time, not so long ago, when a house with a three-quarter kilowatt transformer hooked to it was considered to have adequate power.

But, he continued, "I can show you farms in the so-called backward state of Arkansas where the transformer for one farm is 125 kilovolts."

"And by the way, the so-called backward state of Arkansas leads the nation in percentage increase in industries and population growth at the present time."

"I think of no reason why it has happened except the sudden impetus given industrial growth and the great resources that Arkansas has through hydro (hydroelectric power) and water. That is another great thing."

"The day will come when, like Arizona, the water in Arkansas will be much more valuable for other things than generating power at a certain hour of the day, so you may have to generate it when the guy wants his water and you may have to put it on top of a hill and use it then when you need your power."

"I think this is another reason for pump storage. I am a crackpot on that already."

What Wright was saying is what the sponsors of the Arkansas river program, as well as sponsors of other water projects in the state, have been saying. That is that the combination of water for power, water transportation and water

"Students take home an enthusiasm from music camp participation that is beneficial to local organizations."

Social horizons tend to broaden for most youngsters since music camps bring young people together from all parts of the country. In a friendly atmosphere where common interests and similar age groups are unifying forces, new friendships are easily made.

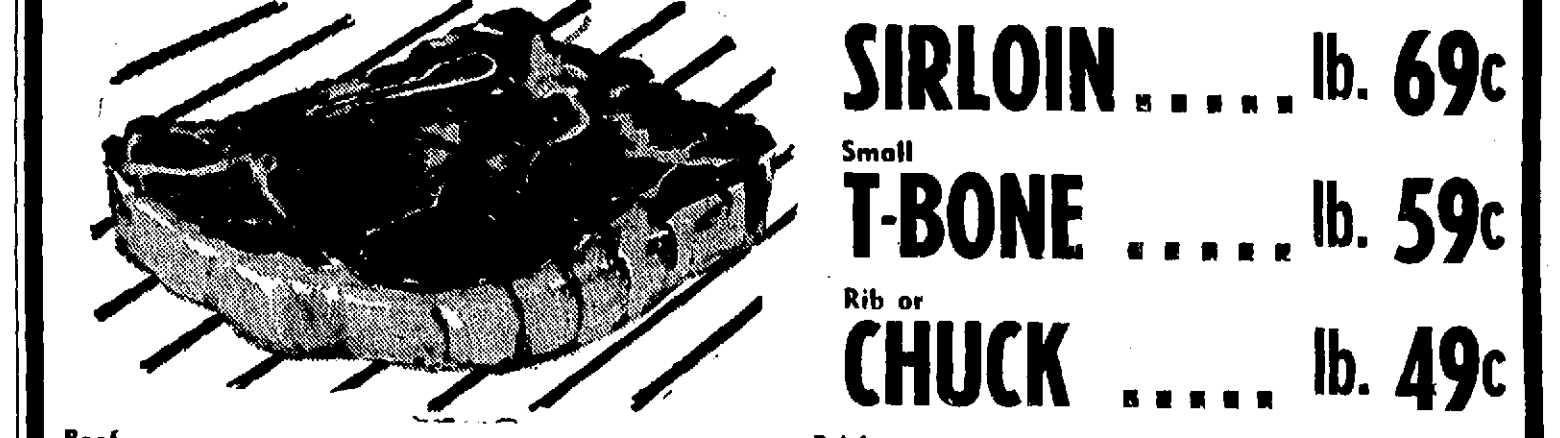

Although the majority of youngsters attending music camps are in the 14-18 year old bracket, many camps have broadened their range to include young children and adults.

Cheese Puffs

Having a big, crisp salad for supper? Reinforce your meal nutritionally and deliciously with bright little Cheese Puffs. Cheese Puffs are tiny cheese-flavored yeast rolls, each worth three well-buttered bites.

Cheese Puffs have an unusual method of preparation in that they require only one rising period and the recipe calls for enriched self-rising flour. Self-rising flour with the added baking powder leavening in it, will produce the lightest, tenderest yeast rolls and breads ever. And with the extra nutrients (B-vitamins, iron and calcium) provided in the enrichment process, you'll be serving tiny rolls with top nutrition value. Try 'em with spaghetti suppers, too.

CHEESE PUFFS
1 package yeast, compressed or dry
1/2 cup water (lukewarm for compressed, warm for dry)
1/4 cup shortening
2 eggs
1 cup shredded sharp cheddar cheese (4 ounces)
1/2 cups sifted enriched self-rising flour
1 tablespoon sugar
1/2 teaspoons dry mustard
1 tablespoon milk
Shredded cheese for topping

Soften yeast in water. Cream shortening. Beat in eggs one at a time. Blend in cheese and softened yeast. Sift together flour, sugar and dry mustard. Blend into cheese mixture and beat until smooth and elastic. 2 minutes on medium speed of electric mixer or 300 strokes by hand. Fill paper or greased medium muffin cups 1/3 full. Let rise in warm place (85°-90°) until doubled, about 1 hour. Bake in moderate oven (375°-400°) 15 to 18 minutes or until golden brown. If desired, brush tops of rolls with milk and dip into shredded cheese for topping.

Makes 12 cheese puffs.
*If you don't sift and in the absence of other directions, spoon flour directly from container into a 1 cup dry measure, level off and remove two level tablespoonfuls according to USDA recommendations.

"DEAR ABBY"

SOBER UP HONEY!

By Abigail Van Buren

Dear Abby: There is a very attractive bachelor living in my apartment building. I am single, too. We have become quite friendly of late, and have invited each other in for a drink, conversation, and television. I drink nothing but ginger ale, but whenever he serves it to me I have had the feeling that it was spiked. When I accused him of this he became very indignant and swore he never did. I've watched him carefully but haven't been able to catch him at it, yet I continue to get that high, exhilarated feeling when we're drinking together. Could it be my imagination?

FEELING HIGH
Dear Feeling: If he is not spiking your ginger ale, he is even more dangerous because he is intoxicating you with his company. Stay out of his apartment.

Dear Abby: I always believed that honesty was the best policy, but it cost me a friend. You see, my best friend bought a dress and asked me what I thought of it. I told her I thought it was too short, too tight, and the color was wrong for her. I told her in a very nice way but she got mad and now she won't even speak to me. Should I have told her the dress was nice even if it wasn't? Please print this, Abby. I know a lot of people who have the same trouble.

CONFUSED
Dear Confused: When a woman asks a friend what she "thinks" of something after she has already bought it, she doesn't want an honest opinion—she wants a compliment. If your best friend quit speaking to you on this account, it couldn't have been much of a friendship.

Dear Abby: Our beautiful 23-year-old daughter is engaged to a fine young man whom she has dated all through college. She is our only daughter and we have the means to give her a storybook wedding. The problem: The young man's mother is an invalid and seems to be fading fast. He wants to be married at a quiet ceremony at his mother's bedside as her doctors say she cannot leave her bed or stand too much excitement. Do you think this is fair to our daughter? Deep down in her heart I know she must be terribly disappointed, but she loves him so much she readily agreed. I am heart sick, and so is our entire family. Why can't the couple have a quiet ceremony at his mother's bedside and then be married again at a beautiful church wedding? Others have been married by a Justice of the Peace and then remarried in a church. If any of your readers have ever faced this problem, I'd appreciate knowing how they handled it.

A MOTHER IN BURLINGAME
Dear Mother: Your daughter is showing more good judgment and compassion than you are. Your "storybook" wedding, following a bedside ceremony, would reduce the church ceremony to a performance.

Problems? Write to Abby.

Peach Dumplings

Looking for a truly good, yet simple, summertime dessert? Be sure to try these attractive Peach Dumplings. Delicious prepared with fresh peaches, Peach Dumplings will be equally as good as a fall and winter dessert made with canned peaches.

You'll find the dumplings are as good for your family as they are to eat. Make them with enriched self-rising flour, the extra convenience flour that has added nutrients (B-vitamins, iron and calcium) and added baking powder and salt. The leavening and salt ingredients will make preparation of such good quick breads as these dumplings extra easy and quick.

Note the dumplings are to be cooked tightly covered for 15 minutes. Be sure to discourage any would-be peckers at this stage or you'll have soggy dumplings. Coffee, milk or tea are all you'll need to complement Peach Dumplings.

PEACH DUMPLINGS

| 2 tablespoons butter or margarine | 1 cup sifted enriched self-rising flour* |
| 1/3 to 1/2 cup sugar | 1/4 cup sugar |

| 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon | 1/4 teaspoon vanilla extract |
| 1-1/2 cups boiling water | 1/3 to 1/2 cup milk |

Great Society Is Rally Cry of Johnson

EDITOR'S NOTE — Ten days ago, in a commencement address at the University of Michigan, President Johnson invited the youth of America to join in building "the great society." Since then he has used the phrase as a rallying cry — a development which is analyzed in the following article.

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is making a determined effort to identify his administration with a quest for what he terms "the great society."

Johnson gave new evidence of his attachment to this label during a four-day holiday weekend trip to New York and Texas. The President, who flew back to Washington Sunday night, delivered four speeches during the trip and, in three of them, he talked about "the great society."

This repetitive emphasis points up Johnson's hope that the public eventually will link his name with the term—much as Franklin D. Roosevelt was associated with the New Deal, Harry S. Truman with the Fair Deal and John F. Kennedy with the New Frontier.

Some Johnson aides say privately the concept of "the great society," as the President has expressed it, is more typical of his view of the role of government than anything he has done as chief executive.

However, they emphasize the concrete aspects of the concept — rebuilt cities, flourishing schools, conservation programs and the elimination of poverty — rather than the abstractions which have embellished Johnson's speeches on the subject.

They argue that, throughout his political life, Johnson has been intrigued by the notion of revitalizing the economy of entire regions through rural electrification, power projects, reforestation, job retraining and the like.

Johnson first talked in detail about "the great society" in his May 22 commencement address at the University of Michigan. In that speech, he urged his youthful audience to join in helping to rebuild cities, preserve the countryside and promote education. He cited these as central challenges facing the nation.

At the same time, he talked about a society in which men are concerned more about the quality of their goods, about an unspoiled land where man can commune with nature.

Nevada County was named for the state of the same name because the outline of the county is similar to that of the State of Nevada.

Another Cool Night in State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

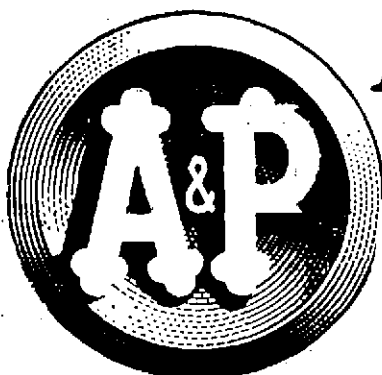

Clear skies brought another cool night to Arkansas today and mild daytime temperatures are expected to continue through the week.

A weak low pressure area moving through Missouri triggered showers in north Arkansas today, but skies remained clear over the southern half of the state.

A new cool front moving in from the west is expected to touch off more showers in the north Thursday. A warming trend is expected once the cool front has moved through.

Overnight temperatures fell into the 50s over most of the state Monday night and some mid-40 degree readings were reported in the northern hills.

The forecast calls for a new warming trend to start Thursday. Monday's highs were in the mild 75 to 82 degree range and today's highs are forecast in the same range.

New Policy on Asia Is in Making

By JAME SMARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—A quietness has settled over the Johnson administration on the subject of Southeast Asia. Yet, it can't afford to sit and rock.

President Johnson himself has said the whole area is at stake. And the situation has been going from bad to worse. Tuesday there was a double vagueness.

1. Johnson had ordered some of his top people to a Honolulu conference on what to do. It ended Tuesday with no recommendations announced. This was to be expected.

2. Johnson told his news conference nothing new Tuesday. He did say the United States "cannot fail to do its full share to meet the (Communist) challenge."

This studied obscurity may mean Johnson himself will announce if this country has decided on a more vigorous and far-reaching policy in Southeast Asia.

While the United States has been giving South Viet Nam $1.5 million a day in aid, and more than 200 of the 15,500 American military men there have been killed, the fight against the North Vietnamese Communists has deteriorated. By last week all Southeast Asia looked in peril with the Reds stepping up their attack in Viet Nam and rampaging in Laos next door.

The United States could take a definitely new step by bombing the North Vietnamese supply depots. But what would the Red Chinese do in that case?

The Johnson administration not only didn't know that but it didn't know what the reaction in this country might be to enlarging the war.

It was at this point that Johnson ordered the Honolulu meeting. Present were:

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara; Secretary of State Dean Rusk; Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff; Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, and many aides and advisers.

This South Vietnamese war had turned McNamara into a regular commuter, in the past two and a half years he had made five trips to Saigon and six to Honolulu, including this one.

From a number of those journeys he had returned optimistic, but not recently. After the meeting U.S. officials hinted military action might be taken against North Viet Nam if it and Red China continue to help the fighting in South Viet Nam and Laos.

Yet, at the same time they said neither McNamara nor

Catholics Pay Homage to Pope John

By GERALD I. MILLER

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Roman Catholic Church paid homage to Pope John XXIII today on the first anniversary of his death.

At churches throughout the world his memory was recalled. Here at the headquarters of Roman Catholicism a memorial Mass was scheduled in St. Peter's Basilica.

Giovanni Cardinal Urbani, patriarch of Venice, was chosen to celebrate the Mass in the presence of John's successor, Pope Paul VI.

Another memorial service was scheduled at Sotto il Monte, Pope John's native village where his brothers still work their farms.

Pilgrims by the thousands thronged to the pope's birthplace in the north Italian mountains. A petition with 50,000 signatures, asking the start of a beatification cause for Pope John, was brought to Bishop Clemente Gaddi of the Bergamo diocese, which includes Sotto il Monte.

Beatification is the first step toward possible sainthood. It was at dusk last June 3 that Pope John died at the age 81 of a stomach tumor.

He had reigned less than five years, but the work he began—the renewal and transition of Roman Catholicism—lives on. Few popes in the Church's nearly 1,000 years made no profound impression.

He summoned the Ecumenical Council to let the fresh air of modern times into the Church. He hoped renewal of the Church would help the growing movement toward Christian unity.

Through word and deed he showed himself an unconventional pope. He ventured freely for the Vatican. He received a top Communist in private audience. Soviet Premier Khrushchev's nephew Alexei Adzhubei. He said in his encyclical "Peace on Earth" that in certain situations Catholics and Communists could work together for the common good of man.

This brought him criticism, particularly in Italy after the Communist party made strong gains in a general election. But Pope John once said the pope had to be a father to all.

Rusk proposed a plan "to enlarge the war." And here in Washington Johnson said he knew of no plans like that.

Nevertheless, Rusk on May 22, before going to Honolulu, hinted at the possibility of enlarging the war "if the Communists persist in their course of aggression."

Whether this was intended more as a psychological deterrent to the Reds than as a reality still isn't clear.

About all that seems positive at the moment is that the United States—Johnson said Tuesday about meeting the challenge—has no intention of abandoning Southeast Asia to communism.

In that same talk 12 days ago Rusk said, "We have made it clear that we are not going to abandon people who are trying to preserve their independence and freedom."

There's another good but unexpressed reason for not walking out: It would wreck American influence in all Asia and perhaps with its allies, too.

All this makes up the biggest foreign test to hit Johnson yet. He's a comparative newcomer to foreign affairs. His specialty was always Congress.

Alfalfa hay was introduced in Arkansas about 1900.

The Story: The search for Thomas Rako, missing for nearly seven years, takes Insurance Detective Milo March to the office of Johnny Clark, in Washington. Clark was Rako's partner and March believes Clark knows something of the disappearance.

X

"Come on in and sit down, Jerry," Clark said. The door closed behind me and the blond man moved into sight. He went over to a chair and sat down.

"This is Jerry Dell," Clark said. "He's one of my secretaries."

"I noticed he carries his typewriter in a shoulder holster," I observed. Clark laughed again. "I have to have protection. A lot of guys would like to get rid of Johnny Clark." He pointed to a chair beside his desk. "Sit down, Milo."

I took the chair. "Quite a place you have here, Mr. Clark," I said.

"Call me Johnny. Everybody else does. Yeah, it's a nice building. Not only that, it's big, proof. They can't even use those fancy gadgets that'll pick up sound right through a wall. We've got them screened out. And we got plenty of devices in here that'll pick up any kind of a bug they try to plant inside. Of course, they can still tap our telephones but only with the help of the phone company because we have our terminal box right here in the building. But that's all right. Might as well let them have a little fun." He smiled and you could see that he was very pleased with himself.

"Sounds like quite a building," I said. "Incidentally, who are they?"

"The Justice Department some of the big companies, or any stray cops that get an itch to be big men."

"Tell me, Milo," Clark said, "why were you so sure that I'd see you just because of your name?"

"That one's easy. I offered to bet Nick Potti 10 to two that he'd be on the phone to you with in five minutes after I left his union office. He wouldn't bet. They it was easy to guess that he'd call you again last night as soon as he found I was coming to Washington this morning."

From that it was even easier to figure that you'd be expecting me."

He laughed again. "Smart. I like smart guys. Why are you looking for Tom Rako?"

"A million dollars in insurance half to Mrs. Rako and half to the company owned by your wife and Mrs. Rako. In another 30 days the courts could declare Rako legally dead the insurance could have to be paid. I doubt if there's any question that the courts will be petitioned to do just that."

"You know that every FBI man and most of the cops in the country have been trying to find him for almost seven years?"

"I know."

"Why do you come to us?"

"Why not? He was one of your boys and I've always heard that you look after your own. I thought maybe you'd like to have Rako found."

"What do you think happened to Thomas Rako?"

He shrugged. "Maybe he got mugged for his roll and died, or had amnesia and wandered off. Or maybe he didn't like the threats the committee was making and took a powder."

"I don't care much for the mugging theory," I said. "It sounds too much like a cheap melodrama. Suppose he took a powder. To get away with it and continue to get away with it this long he'd need help. And who would a man turn to but his friends."

"Lots of people have thought of that, friend," he said. "There's nothing to it. Ask the Feds. They've looked into everything they could without being able to prove a thing."

"I wasn't trying to prove anything. I was asking."

"Well, we didn't help him," he said shortly. He was showing signs of getting restless.

It was time to get him interested again. I lit a cigarette. "There are a couple of other possible theories about Rako," I said gently. "According to the Congressional committee, Rako was a very important witness against you. They seemed to feel that if they could get him to talk they'd have a case. He took the Fifth Amendment that might have been able to break him down. Only if he were alive, though. That thought thought might have occurred to you and you might have taken care to prevent it."

For a brief minute the steel of Johnny Clark showed through his expression; then his face relaxed and he laughed. "That's not very original either."

"Why did Rako take the Fifth? He resented the invasion of his privacy."

"I'm glad to see that you have a sense of humor," I said gravely.

Van Buren School Money Withheld

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Education Department withheld Tuesday $10,429 of the $289,214 due to Van Buren County schools because the county has not complied with the state assessment law.

The law requires that the property tax assessment be at least 18 per cent. The county will get the money when it meets the requirement.

The department said small amounts would be withheld from Quitman and West Side districts in Cleburne County and Leslie District in Searcy County because they have territory as signed to them in Van Buren County.

The districts in Van Buren

Dorsey Has Retained an Adviser

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Odell Dorsey, Democratic candidate for governor, announced Monday that he had retained Sam P. Watson of Little Rock as a campaign adviser.

Watson, an investments broker, at one time said he would run for governor this year but he withdrew in favor of a "young businessman," who turned out to be Dorsey.

Watson had three quick pieces of advice for Dorsey.

1. Seek repeal of Amendment 49.
2. Amend Act 9 of 1960 to require industries using it to pay the prevailing national wage.
3. Seek repeal of the state's right to work law.

Watson attacked Amendment 49, the industry-financing measure, in statements when he was considering the race. He said its tax provisions could impose a hardship on cities and counties who finance a weak industry.

Act 9 is a supplement to Amendment 49 which permits issuance of revenue bonds to

Friends Will Send Woman to Australia

PARAGOULD, Ark. (AP)—Residents of Paragould are within sight of a big community goal—sending Mrs. Raymond Wheelis and her daughter, Dianne, 16, to Australia.

Mrs. Wheelis hasn't seen her relatives in the continent down under since she left there as a war bride right after World War II. Diane has never seen her relatives on her mother's side of the family.

So residents of Paragould began a trading stamp campaign to send them to Australia for a visit. They've collected 465 books of stamps and 1,800 in cash to finance the trip, and only 35 books of stamps are needed.

Mrs. Wheelis wants to take off for Melbourne within the next month, because it is fall there and she doesn't want her daughter to see the continent only in winter.

The bank where Mrs. Wheel-is works helped get the campaign rolling with a $500 gift. Radio Station KDRS and a church organization conducted a trading stamp auction which brought in $200.

A spaghetti supper held in a cafeteria netted $500. The restaurant donated the facilities and the merchants provided the food.

Hundreds of persons contributed stamps or money. The stamps can be exchanged for airline tickets. Charts appeared in business places, showing the route. As the money and stamps rolled in, the progress was filled in along the route.

Diane, who will be a senior at Paragould High School this fall, already has her passport. Mrs. Wheelis hasn't received hers yet because she is not a naturalized citizen. She says she intends to be naturalized upon her return from Australia.

Mrs. Wheelis' husband is a tire recapper. Diane, is their only child. Wheelis was an Army medical corpsman from Paragould when he met his wife-to-be in Melbourne.

Springfield, an early county seat of Conway County, is just what its name indicates, a spring in a field, around which a town grew up.

Situation Made Him Sweat Plenty

EDITOR'S NOTE — Every commander worries about "accidents of the terrain"—an unexpected ditch, a patch of hidenswamp that can lose a battle. There was nothing unexpected in what a Texan faced 20 years ago. What he faced made a man sweat.

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — "First time you mentioned it, I thought you were trying to scare me," said Lt. Col. Earl Rudder to Gen. Omar N. Bradley.

Assignment: Land 200 men on a difficult shelf, scale a 100-foot cliff and destroy German guns trained so they would cut to pieces any troops landed on Omaha Beach.

"No soldier in my command has ever been wished a more difficult task than that which befall the 34-year-old commander of this Ranger force," Gen. Bradley wrote in his book, "A Soldier's Story."

New recognition of Rudder, now president of Texas A&M University and a Reserve major general, will come Friday when he becomes an official representative of the United States to mark the 20th anniversary of the Allies' crashthrough into Europe in World War II. He is in the delegation headed by Gen. Bradley and appointed by President Johnson to attend ceremonies in France.

To prepare his troops, Rudder trained them on the stony cliffs of the Isle of Wight. Ropes with grappling hooks and ladders carried by amphibious trucks were to be used in scaling the Normandy cliffs. The trucks proved useless.

"As Rudder closed in on Pointe du hoe, enemy artillery raked his landing craft," Bradley wrote.

"As the Rangers went up the ropes hand over hand, the enemy dropped grenades on their heads. A destroyer raged in and swept the top of the cliffs with her guns.

"Within five minutes after they had landed, the first Ranger had belied over the top. Seconds later his companions swarmed up behind him."

Rudder's boat was the first to reach shore, official Army records show.

About noon of D-Day, Rudder sent this message: "Location Pointe du Hoe — mission accomplished — need ammunition and reinforcements. Many casualties."

About three hours later came a reply: "No reinforcements available."

Relief came on D-Day plus-2. The battalion had suffered more than 50 per cent casualties and

Young Democrats to Open Drive

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Young Democrats announced plans Monday to open a campaign headquarters for their drive to get a county salary amendment on the November ballot.

John Browning Jr., of Little Rock, president of the Young Democrats said the headquarters for getting 32,000 signatures on the amendment proposal petition would be opened Thursday at the Hotel Marion. Circulation of petitions will start then, he said.

Browning, on a leave of absence as an administrative assistant to Gov. Orval E. Faubus, will head the petition campaign.

Under the proposed amendment categories of salary limitations would be set up according to population of counties. Salary ceilings in the larger counties would be higher.

Rudder himself had been wounded three times.

Rudder received decorations from three countries, including the Distinguished Service Cross, the United States' second highest award for individual valor.

He later commanded an infantry regiment which helped repulse the last major offensive of the Germans, the Battle of the Bulge.

Remember Insurance Outdoors

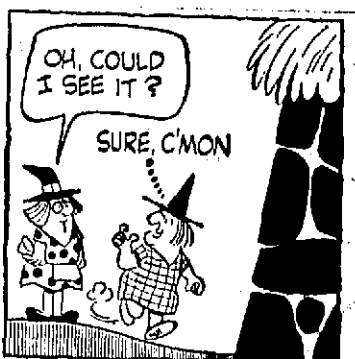

If your favorite fishing rod is stolen while you're on a trip to Canada, will your insurance policy pay for it?

"That stolen fishing rod would probably be covered by a homeowners policy," says Norval P. Goelzer, a vice president of the State Farm Mutual Insurance Company. "This is an example of how, very often, the kinds of insurance many people have — auto, homeowners, life, and personal liability — offer some sort of protection for the outdoorsman." However, it's best to talk over your special insurance needs as an outdoorsman with a qualified agent.

"Outdoorsmen often encounter situations where the risks, perhaps no greater than those of the workaday world, are decidedly different," says Goelzer. Here's a rundown on how different types of policies protect the outdoorsman:

Homeowners: These policies provide some protection for household goods away from home, including outdoor gear. Some limit losses on specific items, with a $500 loss limit on boating equipment a common provision. Most personal property away from home — can-

Personal Liability: If you shoot a fellow hunter, if your dog kills a prize sheep, if you injure someone while you are water skiing, you are liable for damages. A personal liability policy protects the outdoorsman against these risks.

Auto: Damage done by your camping trailer is usually covered by your auto liability insurance, but you'll need a special policy or a rider to insure your trailer against damage.

Some Canadian provinces may require higher auto liability than you carry. Check with your agent. While you're there, get a card certifying that you have liability coverage — it's required for motoring in Canada.

If you're going south of the border, buy Mexican auto insurance, available at daily rates. American claims agents can't operate in Mexico.

Boatowners: If your boating equipment is worth more than your homeowners policy allows, you ought to consider hull insurance. Boat liability, similar to auto liability, is a good idea for any craft.

Life: You can climb mountains, shoot rapids — as long as you don't do it for a living — and today's life insurance policies stay in effect. However, some older policies have limitations. For example they may exclude coverage aboard charter or non-scheduled flights such as the increasingly popular Canadian fly ins.

Here's Some Camping Tips for Novices

More and more young families are discovering that a camping trip is an exciting, fun-filled and relatively inexpensive way to spend a vacation.

But if you've never gone camping and you are thinking of doing so, bear in mind that camping in the Southwest, say, is a lot different from in the Maine woods. The equipment and techniques you need to be comfortable, happy, and safe depend on the kind of trip you want to take and where.

Combine common sense with some careful planning and you'll find that a vacation spent outdoors in a tent or trailer can be just as accident-free as any other kind.

Find out what equipment you need, what clothing to take along, and what new techniques you might have to learn for outdoor living. Most of this calls for common sense, and a camping family can be safe in most areas if they merely exercise good judgment and follow the advice of experts. Here are some basic tips:

Stay within the limits of your experience and ability. Don't play Daniel Boone the first time out.

Don't over-exert yourself. Remember that camp life is more tiring than a barbecue party in your backyard, and if you're tired you are more likely to get careless and violate safety rules.

Take along all the equipment you need, but don't take along unnecessary items — you'll only get irritated at having to lug them around, and irritation can lead to carelessness.

Timely Tips for Driving at Night

Nighttime has its brighter side, especially for vacationers. You can stretch the distance driven daily by continuing after dark or by starting out just before sundown.

There's less traffic during hours of darkness, and in many parts of the nation, the only really pleasant time for summer motoring is in the cool hours before or after the sun begins to beat down.

Rule number one for more pleasant after-dark driving is a simple one: Stay on the better roads, where you'll find more illumination, reflective highway signs and markers, and separated lanes to help guide you through the dark.

Even the simplest highway markers can be vitally helpful after dark. For example, the edge-marking found on the right-hand side of some highways may be the only guide to keep you on the road when confronted with blinding glare from oncoming headlights.

Carrying a flashlight is a must for after-dark driving. However, because batteries can wear down—and you may need the light to illuminate repair work if stalled—and it's a good plan to carry some other device to alert oncoming traffic during an emergency.

Flares will do the trick, as will burning waxed milk cartons. You'll need several of the latter, because they burn quickly.

A roll of reflective tape carried in your glove compartment can be wrapped around just about any rigid object in seconds to make an impromptu warning device.

Salinger Is Winner in His Drive

By LARRY OSIUS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller swept toward a photo finish today in their race for California's 86 Republican presidential nominating delegates.

Almost lost in the dust of the Golden State race were primary elections in five other states Tuesday which saw, among other things, Goldwater pick up a handful of delegates in South Dakota but lose out in an attempted raid on Rockefeller's home base, New York.

There were these developments, too:

—Pierre Salinger, former White House press secretary, held a consistent, if narrow, lead in his drive for the Democratic senatorial nomination in California. Former film actor George Murphy won the nod on the GOP side.

—Two veteran congressmen from New York—and probably a third from Alabama—were ousted by the voters.

—Two famous names from the Democratic side of the senate—Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and John C. Stennis of Mississippi—won renomination easily.

The California presidential race saw-sawed through the night and early morning, with Rockefeller mounting a narrow lead. The outcome hinged on vote-rich Los Angeles County where Goldwater ran well ahead on partial returns Tuesday night.

The Arizona senator claimed victory Tuesday night, based on a Columbia Broadcasting System projection shortly after the polls closed that he would win better than half the total vote. Rockefeller refused to concede.

Beyond the tangible prize of 86 votes—second largest delegation at the GOP nominating convention next month—hovered the question of what victory or defeat would do to Goldwater's chances of trying to seal a first-ballot victory with votes from some 28 delegates still to be chosen this month.

With 655 votes needed for the nomination, The Associated Press tally of delegates already chosen showed Goldwater with 350 first-ballot votes, not counting California. In second place is Rockefeller, who spurted from 41 votes to 118 on the strength of Tuesday's New York primary.

In New York, 77 delegates favorable to Rockefeller were elected, most of them without opposition. He is expected to add another 10 at-large when the state committee meets next week.

South Dakota Republicans defeated a slate of 14 delegates pledged to Goldwater by a 2-1 margin. But the nominally uncommitted slate chosen contains at least six delegates favorable to Goldwater.

Television and Radio

NEW YORK (AP)—The Better Business Bureau covering the New York metropolitan area recently received a flurry of complaints about a television repair service—fake repairs and phony bills.

The bureau set up a television set in perfect order except for one good $2 tube which was carefully replaced by a worn-out one and installed in the home of a BBB investigator. The television service was summoned.

The repairman appeared, murmured something about a big, difficult job and carried the set back to his shop. In due time it was returned—with a $41 bill. The information was turned over to the district attorney. Prosecution and conviction followed.

Fortunately as the television business grows older, the number of gyp repairmen has diminished impressively. Such situations are becoming more and more infrequent.

The New York BBB received 1,034 complaints about television repair practices in 1959. Last year, this total had dropped to 598.

"People often are attracted by low prices," said a Better Business Bureau representative. "They are tempted to call in someone who advertises a charge of only $1, $2 or $3 for a service call. We've pointed out many times that a repairman can't make a living on such a basis and that he might try to make up the difference with other charges."

Simple attrition has forced most gyps out of business while the reputable firms stayed and prospered.

Although a lot of knowledgeable people are do-it-yourself fixers, most manufacturers of television sets do not encourage the practice.

"There is a lot of high voltage in the back of the set," explained one company executive. "Unless the normal safety practices are observed, a person could get hurt."

The three major television networks, using millions of dollars worth of electronic equipment and the services of small armies of assistants, hope to demonstrate dramatically tonight how computers have altered the business of reporting election results.

Fewer Dropouts Are Indicated

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Education Commissioner A. W. Ford said Monday that there were more high school graduates this year, indicating the state may have fewer drop-outs.

He said 22,593 graduated this year, compared to 19,109 last year.

Ford said it is probable that a campaign against school dropouts played a role in the gain. "We cannot be more specific on the basis of a comparison between two years, but I am conversations with educators that the campaign against drop-outs has had good effect in the graduate totals this year," he said.

The breakdown on all-district survey:

1963-64	9,255	9,075	18,330
1962-63	7,770	7,590	15,360

Alabama Law Struck Down by Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The

Supreme Court struck down today an Alabama court order barring the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People from operating in that state.

Justice John M. Harlan delivered the unanimous decision.

In litigation that began in 1956, the Montgomery County (Ala.) Circuit Court on Dec. 29, 1961 permanently enjoined NAACP from conducting intrastate business in the state. The ban was on the ground the NAACP had failed to register as a foreign-out-of-state corporation.

Alabama's Supreme Court on Feb. 28, 1963 affirmed the Circuit Court order, without considering the merits of the case. The State Supreme Court said this was necessary because the NAACP had failed to satisfy rules as to the manner in which law briefs should raise assignments of error.

The NAACP appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court, contending it had been deprived of constitutional freedom of association, and due process and equal protection of law.

The state in reply said the NAACP had been given full opportunity to be heard in Alabama courts and now presented nothing of a federal nature for action by the U.S. Supreme Court.

In upholding the NAACP contentions, Harlan said, "The judgment below must be reversed."

He noted that, in view of the long history of the case, the Supreme Court had been asked to formulate a decree for entry in the Alabama courts to assure the NAACP's right to conduct activities in Alabama without further delay.

Harlan said such a course was within the power of the Supreme Court, but that the high tribunal's justices preferred to follow usual practice and send the case back to the Alabama Supreme Court for entry of a prompt decree.

This decree, said Harlan, must vacate "in all respects the permanent injunction order issued by the Circuit Court of Montgomery County, Ala., and permit the association to take all steps necessary to qualify it to do business in Alabama."

"Should we unhappily be mistaken in our belief that the Supreme Court of Alabama will promptly implement this disposition, leave is given the association to apply to this court for further appropriate relief," Harlan added.

Harlan said that Alabama's attorney general had cited no case, and the Supreme Court has not been able to find a case, in which a foreign-out-of-state corporation was ousted from Alabama for failing to comply with the registration statute.

Bank Must Close Window
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court held Monday that the Monette State Bank must close its teller window at Caraway under Act 190 of 1961.

The law requires closure of a teller window operated by an out-of-city bank whenever the city obtains a bank of its own. The state Bank Commission chartered the Bank of Caraway in 1961 and ordered the Monette bank to close its window. The Monette bank appeared to the courts.

Lettuce Wedge -- Easy Salad

If you hate the last minute bother of tossing a salad, here's the perfect salad for you. A lettuce wedge salad which you can prepare at least two hours ahead. Although the recipe here is a salad for 4 to 6, it is the ideal salad for church suppers, or meals prepared in quantity for club and other group gatherings.

Lettuce Wedge Salad

- 1 head western iceberg lettuce
- 1/4 cup Mazola corn oil
- 2 tablespoons vinegar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
- 1/2 teaspoon sugar
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 1/2 cup green pepper

Remove core from head of western iceberg lettuce. Rinse under cold running water. Drain well and place in refrigerator crisper or plastic bag. Chill. About 2 hours before serving time, cut lettuce into four or six wedges depending on the desired size per serving. Place wedges in a shallow dish or pan. Measure corn oil, vinegar, salt, pepper, Worcestershire and sugar into a jar; shake well. Pour dressing over lettuce; cover with waxed paper and refrigerate until serving time. To serve sprinkle wedges with chopped parsley; arrange on serving plate. Makes 4 servings.

To make 45 servings of Lettuce Wedge Salad, double these ingredients.
